

IRAAL

Cumann na Teangeolaíochta Feidhmi
Irish Association for Applied Linguistics

Public Lecture

FluenCi, Fluency and the 5th Skill How 'supra' are your segmentals?

by

Dermot F Campbell

(Head of Department in the School of Languages at Dublin Institute of Technology)

This presentation will outline the rationale behind the EU Lifelong Learning Project FluenCi and its positioning between fully scripted speech and totally free, unscripted dialogues involving native speakers of English. FluenCi will offer an online tool for self-learners, or in conjunction with commercially available course materials.

Dermot F Campbell is a Head of Department in the School of Languages in the Dublin Institute of Technology, currently researching full-time in the Digital Media Centre. His area of interest is in multi-disciplinary research projects applying speech technologies to language learning; he is currently involved in constructing a Dynamic Speech Corpus

http://www.dmc.dit.ie/people/dermot_cambell.html

Date: Tuesday, 14th February 2012

Time: 19.30

Location: Room 4-068

Dublin Institute of Technology

Aungier Street, Dublin 2